“Great things are done when men and mountains meet.”

William Blake

Make your day

The spectacular scenery of the Mourne Mountains and Ring of Gullion in the south east of Northern Ireland reflects their status as Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty. With varied, stunning panoramas in a compact space, it's a perfect destination for visitors looking for thrills or relaxation. The area is within easy travelling distance of Belfast and Dublin. Enjoy the natural beauty and clean air of the great outdoors on land and water – walking, cycling, riding, driving, golf, sailing and fishing. The mountains and beautiful beaches are just the beginning.

Coming out to play?

The area is a big open-air playground – this perfectly sums up the Mourne Mountains and the Ring of Gullion.

So what kind of person enjoys visiting the Mournes and the Ring of Gullion? The thrill seeker, walker, photographer, angler, golfer, shopper, cyclist and leisurely driver.

It's a land of opposites, both active and relaxed. You can pack your visit to maximise the time you have, or travel free and easy, and just take things as they come.

The bustling market towns and city of Newry stand in contrast to the slow-changing, rural landscape. Around you, open skies drift over green farmland, and the water always seems to be in view. Enjoy rolling countryside, traffic-free roads, shorelines, seascapes and sunsets, along with postcard villages and fascinating wildlife.

Step inside and feel the heat of roaring fires in country pubs, with dining and accommodation options to suit everyone's taste and budget, and a warm welcome comes with them all.

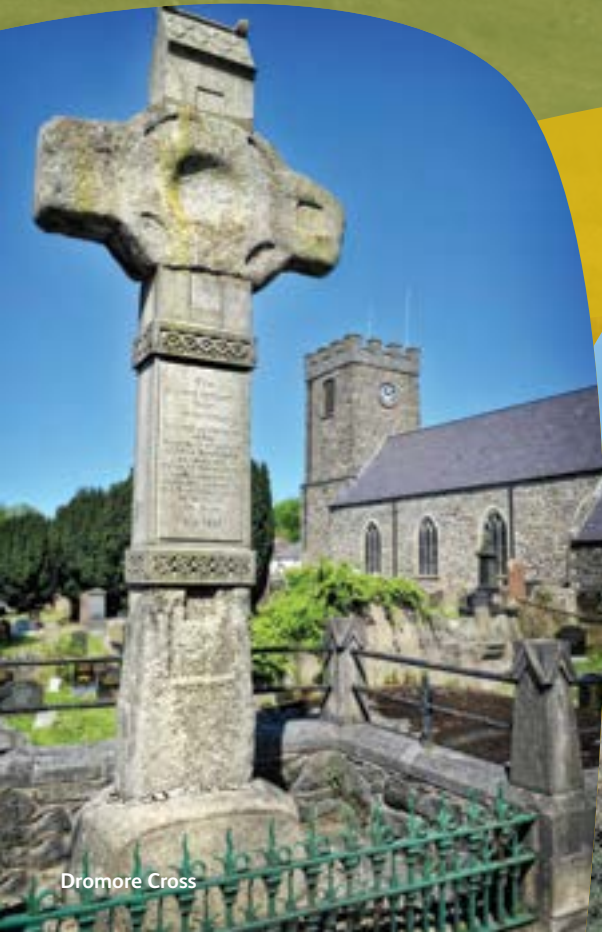

Land of legends

The area's heritage is tied closely to Patrick, Ireland's patron saint, and the story of how he brought Christianity to Ireland. The land's built heritage also illustrates Ireland's political and commercial history – the castles, dolmens and ruins that dot the rural landscape and coast.

Can't miss list

Fit as many of these top attractions as you can into your visit, or take it slowly and come back again for more...

Annalong Cornmill & Harbour

The village of Annalong boasts a picturesque harbour dating back to the early 1800s. As well as fishing, the harbour was used for many years for exporting the famous quarried Mourne granite. The restored cornmill has a working water wheel which can be seen in operation on a guided tour.

Ballykeel Portal Tomb

This dolmen is known locally as the 'Hag's Chair'. The Neolithic burial site (dated 4,000–2,500 BC) has a huge capstone supported on uprights over an octagonal burial chamber.

Bagenal's Castle, Newry and Mourne Museum & Heritage Trail – Newry

The 16th Century Bagenal's Castle is Newry's oldest surviving building. The city's heritage trail starts at Newry Town Hall and takes you through Newry's many attractions, exploring the history and heritage of this ancient place.

Castlewellan Forest Park, Peace Maze & Mountain Bike Trails

One of Northern Ireland's most famous lakes with a stunning Victorian Castle in a dramatic setting between the mountains and the sea. Castlewellan Forest is home to one of the most outstanding tree and shrub collections in Europe. The beauty and perfect shape of the trees in the National Arboretum attracts tree enthusiasts from all around the world. For the thrill seeker there is 25km of mountain bike trails suitable for all levels and ability. To walk around the mile-long lake while encountering some intriguing modern sculptures on the way is to enjoy a great experience of 18th Century landscape.

F E McWilliam Gallery & Studio – Banbridge

This gallery celebrates the work of Banbridge-born sculptor Frederick Edward McWilliam. Contemporary and friend of Henry Moore, McWilliam is considered one of the most important sculptors of his generation. View the permanent display of McWilliam's work, as well as the temporary exhibitions, craft shop, café and visitor information.

Kilbroney Park & Rostrevor Mountain Bike Trails

Just outside Rostrevor, Kilbroney Park has camping facilities, a restaurant and magnificent walks with striking views of the Cooley Mountains. The new mountain bike trails in Rostrevor cover 27 km, including some exhilarating downhill runs.

Narrow Water Castle – Warrenpoint

With spectacular views, Narrow Water is a fine example of a tower house. In 1212, Hugh de Lacy, first Earl of Ulster, built a keep on the site, to prevent river-borne attacks on Newry. In the 1560s, the tower house and bawn were added.

Royal County Down Golf Course – Newcastle

Regularly selected by professional golfers and experts as one of the top courses in the world. Dating back from 1889, Royal County Down Golf Club is one of the oldest in Ireland. It has two 18 hole courses, the Championship Course and the Annesley links.

Seaforde Gardens & Tropical Butterfly House

Sited in a historic demesne, which has been a family home for almost 400 years, Seaforde Gardens and Tropical Butterfly House is home to hundreds of free-flying tropical butterflies, as well as parrots, reptiles and insects. The beautiful gardens include a maze and many rare trees and shrubs.

Slieve Gullion Forest Park

This forest park covers 2,500 acres and has spectacular views. The play area includes a toddler's section, adventure play equipment for older kids and even a trim trail for adults. Enjoy walking the path to the top of Slieve Gullion or a leisurely stroll around the walled garden.

Soak Seaweed Baths – Newcastle

Hot seaweed bathing was all the rage in Victorian times. Soak Seaweed Baths is a modern take on an old tradition, and offers a unique chance to relax and luxuriate in mineral-rich seaweed and hot seawater, detoxifying your body and nourishing your skin.

Silent Valley Reservoir & Visitor Centre – Mourne Mountains

The Silent Valley reservoir is one of Northern Ireland's 'must see' attractions. Surrounded by breath-taking countryside, this huge reservoir was built to gather water from the mountains over the high Mournes and is the main water supply for most of County Down and Belfast. Ringed by dramatic peaks, with Slieve Binnian to the east, the cliffs of Slievenaglogh to the west and to the north Doan and Ben Crom.

Tollymore Forest Park – Newcastle

One of Northern Ireland's largest and most attractive forest parks, with walks along the Shimna River, featuring rocky outcrops, grottos, stepping-stones and caves. Tollymore is also home to the oldest tree in any arboretum in Ireland – a slow-growing spruce.

The great, green outdoors

Think about Ireland, and the colour of your thoughts must be green. The Mourne Mountains and Ring of Gullion are both Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty, where you can escape the pressure of everyday life and reconnect with nature, enjoying amazing views.

The area has busy market towns, but it is rural at heart, unspoilt and ready for you to explore. Get suitably dressed and get out there and enjoy the views! Take your pick from forest walks, formal gardens, stately homes, woods, country parks, wildlife, a nature reserve and a menu of outdoor activities.

Local attractions make the most of the countryside and help you to connect with the landscape. You can find lots of advice to help you select a suitable walk. Take a woodland stroll with the family, or get equipped and tackle one of the area's peaks.

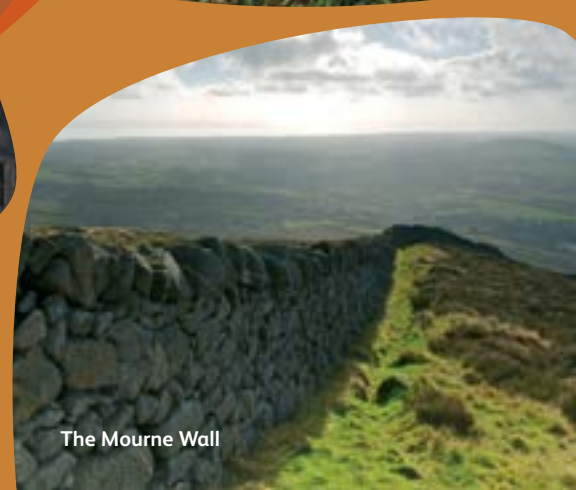

There are masses of cycling routes through fabulous scenery to inspire and exhilarate, getting you pedalling through forests, valleys, mountains or along the coast.

Walk this way

Your local Visitor Information Centre can point you towards a huge choice of walks in the Mourne and Ring of Gullion. You can pick up a free pack of walking routes, featuring some of the most picturesque trails in all of Ireland. This pack is a wipeable (rainproof!) wallet of individual route cards, with detailed directions, timings, and a map for every walk. Pick up your free pack or download the routes at www.visitmournemountains.co.uk

Whether you are a leisurely stroller or serious climber, there's terrain to suit every skill, including forest, coastline, valleys and mountains. Stunning views come free with them all.

Did you know? High Five

Head for the Mourne Mountains and the natural skyscrapers of Slieve Donard, Slieve Commedagh, Slieve Binnian, Slieve Bearnagh and Slieve Meelbeg. Contact your local Visitor Information Centre for walking guides and routes in the Mourne Mountains and Ring of Gullion.

Climb every mountain (but not in your flip-flops!)

Take to the hills (sensibly clothed and prepared) or join an organised walk. Many routes supplied by Visitor Information Centres are on paths. You should stick to those paths, and wear sensible clothing and practical footwear. Forests and flip-flops don't mix! Weather conditions are changeable, even in summer, so be prepared. If you are venturing into an upland area, you should carry some essential equipment (map, compass and GPS) and first aid kit. Always tell someone your plans before you set off, and let them know when you return safely. Remember – you will often be on private land, so please follow the 'Leave no trace' principles and enjoy the countryside responsibly.

The Mourne Mountains

The Mourne Mountains are the highest and most dramatic mountain range in Northern Ireland, its summits crowned by granite tors. The mountains themselves are criss-crossed by an unrivalled network of paths and tracks, providing enthusiastic walkers with incredible opportunities for exploration.

The Mournes are a granite mountain range and are divided into two very distinctive areas – the Eastern or ‘High’ Mournes and the Western or ‘Low’ Mournes. Any newcomer to the Mournes will be simply amazed at the variety of landscapes that can be encountered within such a confined geographical area.

1 Slieve Donard (853 metres)

Named after Saint Domangart, a 6th Century holy man who built a prayer cell on the summit of the mountain. Slieve Donard is the highest peak in Northern Ireland and in the wider province of Ulster. It is also the 19th highest peak on the island of Ireland.

2 Slieve Commedagh (765 metres)

Translated means ‘mountain of guarding/watching’ (as in look-out). Slieve Commedagh lies to the northwest of Slieve Donard, and the two are linked by a mountain pass. At the summit of the mountain is a small one-room tower. This stone tower is part of the Mourne Wall, which passes over the mountain.

3 Slieve Binnian (747 metres)

Named after the rocky tors (little peaks) situated around the top of the mountain. Binnian has a long summit ridge along which its several tors resemble an array of little horns.

4 Slieve Bearnagh (739 metres)

One of the most distinct mountains in the Mournes and is renowned for the granite tors on its summit. ‘Gapped’ or ‘broken mountain’, gets its name from its two giant rocky tors and the col lying between them.

5 Slieve Meelbeg (708 metres)

Meaning ‘little mountain of the ants’ and has excellent views of Fofanny Dam, Lough Shannagh and Blue Lough.

6 Slieve Meelmore (704 metres)

Name translates as ‘the big bare mountain’. This mountain encompasses sections of the Mourne Wall and spectacular views of Slieve Bearnagh.

Slieve Gullion – Cuilinn’s Mountain (575 metres)

Slieve Gullion has a lough on the summit plateau, named after the Cailleach Beara, and is where Fionn Mac Cumhaill got his white hair. This fate is still said to befall anyone who bathes in the lake. Ti Chulainn, where Setanta became Cuchulainn, is said to have been situated on the mountain too. The summit has two cairns, the southern passage tombs entrance is faced towards the setting sun on the evening of the winter solstice.

The Ring Dyke, from where the Ring of Gullion got its name, is a unique geological landform, unparalleled elsewhere in Ireland or the UK and was the first ring dyke in the world to be geologically mapped. The ring of low, rugged hills forms a ‘rampart’ around the heather-clad Slieve Gullion mountain. Rich semi-wild habitats of heath, bog and woodland contrast with the neatly patterned fields and ladder farms. Slieve Gullion’s mysterious reputation arises from its associations with legends and the wider area’s rich archaeological heritage.

Take a road trip

In the steps of Saint Patrick

Saint Patrick's Trail is a 92-mile signposted driving route that connects key sites with strong links to Saint Patrick's life, landscape and legacy. The trail runs from Armagh to Newry, then through the Mournes in County Down to Downpatrick, before going up the Ards Peninsula to finish in Bangor. Saint Patrick's first church in Ireland was at Saul near Downpatrick, and County Down is rich in legends, buildings and landscapes that tell his story. Why not call into the Downpatrick Visitor Information Centre for more information about the area's immensely powerful Christian heritage.

Newry & Ring of Gullion

Take a road trip from Newry to Bessbrook, stopping to enjoy the village and Derrymore House, travel by the stunning Camlough Lake to the O'Fiaich Heritage Centre in Cullyhanna. Some of the most famous poets of South Armagh, including the O'Neills, are buried in Creggan Churchyard. Stop for a break in Crossmaglen, and then drive on to the Ring of Gullion via the Ti Chulainn Cultural Activity Centre. A leisurely walk in the gardens or a climb to the summit of Slieve Gullion will make the most of the amazing scenery in South Armagh.

Public transport

The Slieve Gullion Rambler (Service 443) operates from July to September from Newry Buscentre to Slieve Gullion Forest Park. Key attractions along the route include, Slieve Gullion North Cairn, South Cairn and Passage Tomb, Slieve Gullion Forest Adventure Park and Courtyard, Killeavy Castle, Killeavy Churches and Cailleach Beara Lough.

The Mourne Rambler (Service 405) operates from May to September, and takes a scenic, circular route from Newcastle, through Bryansford and Tollymore, and into the mountains. You can hop out and explore at Silent Valley, Spelga Dam, Bloody Bridge, or any of the scenic viewpoints on the way.

The Kilkeel Rambler (Service 407) operates all year round, and visits Kilkeel, Cranfield and Attical, along the coastline and into the mountains.

Mourne cottage on the move

Visitors can see an original Mourne cottage at the Ulster Folk & Transport Museum in Cultra. Ballyveagh Farm is built from Mourne granite, and was relocated to the museum in the 1980s.

Newry through to The Mournes

From Newry follow A2 dual carriageway to Warrenpoint, a busy port and seaside resort and one of best-planned towns in Ireland, built on a grid system by landlords of Narrow Water. Narrow Water Keep guards Carlingford Lough, originally built in 1212 by Hugh De Lacy, Earl of Ulster. Tower-house and bawn were built in the 1560s for English garrison, but later held by Gaelic Magennis family. Visit Clonallon Church, built on the site of Saint Dallan's 6th Century monastic settlement, and stone of destiny or Coronation stone of the Magennis Clan. See Ross monument, erected to honour General Robert Ross in 1826 to celebrate victory over America in Bladensburg in 1814.

Rostrevor & Kilkeel

One of the most beautiful spots in Ireland. Kilbroney Park situated at foot of Rostrevor Forest. Kilbroney Park has vast open space, caravan and camping facilities, riverside walks and picnic areas. Located between Rostrevor and Kilkeel, Greencastle is a good example of numerous strongholds erected in Ireland by Anglo Normans around middle of 13th Century. Stroll along the award winning beach at Cranfield. Call into The Nautilus Centre and visit Mourne Maritime Visitor Centre and Mourne Seafood Cookery School and pick up Visitor Information.

Annalong & Silent Valley

Annalong is home to the Cornmill, built in the 1800s it has a working water wheel which can be seen in operation on a guided tour. Annalong was home to a fleet of around 30 schooners, carrying granite and potatoes to western Britain. Follow the signs for the Silent Valley, built at the beginning of the 20th Century and providing 30 million gallons of water per day. Attractive parkland and forest walks provide access to Silent Valley and Ben Crom reservoirs. The grounds contain parkland, lakes and ponds that were part of the original landscape design. Most areas are open to the public. There is splendid mountain scenery, woodland walks and facilities including an exhibition centre and restaurant.

Hilltown

From Silent Valley, follow the road through Deers Meadow via Spelga Dam to Hilltown, named by the Marquess of Downshire in 1765. The smuggling of brandy and spirits from the coast along the 'brandy path' was a local pastime - Hilltown was the favourite distribution point. At Goward Dolmen, the top stone covers a single chamber.

The Mountains Sweep Down to the Sea

One of the most astonishing views of the Mourne Mountains is from Tyrella Beach. From here, the Mournes do look like they are tumbling into the Irish Sea. Follow the winding roads through drumlins to Clough (motte and bailey) then through Dundrum. The sand dunes at Dundrum are among the highest in Europe, and the town is home to the famous Dundrum Bay Oysters. Continue to the famous seaside resort - Newcastle - great for families, ramblers, rock climbers, water sports enthusiasts, shoppers and golf fanatics. Stroll along the award winning Newcastle Promenade. The Mourne Coastal Route Scenic Driving Trail passes the Bloody Bridge and Maggie's Leap on the way to the charming fishing village of Annalong. Continue to the fishing port of Kilkeel and visit The Nautilus Centre overlooking the harbour, then continue along the Mourne Coastal Route towards Newry. On entering Rostrevor, pass one of most ancient woodlands in Ireland, Rostrevor Oak Forest with picturesque Carlingford Lough at your side. There are pleasant waterfront walks at Rostrevor. Warrenpoint is a fantastic family seaside resort with a beautiful marina. Look out for Narrow Water Castle, guarding the entrance to Newry Canal, the oldest in the British Isles. The bustling border city of Newry provides a gateway between the north and the south, surrounded by magnificent scenery, mountains and coastline. This area is steeped in fascinating history and heritage with excellent shopping and leisure facilities.

Heritage

Fact and myth are woven together in Mourne and Ring of Gullion countryside. The landscape still holds traces of civilisation dating as far back as 4,000 BC. Much of the area's heritage is steeped in Christianity, and the legacy of Patrick, Ireland's patron saint.

The story of Christianity in Ireland began here in the 5th Century – Saint Patrick brought his boat ashore in County Down. You can walk in his footsteps today, and visit the land where he established Ireland's first Christian Church. Saint Patrick made County Down the cradle of Irish Christianity. He died here, and his final resting place is beside Down Cathedral in Downpatrick.

The land still bears the trace of Ireland's ancient past. When Patrick arrived here, the land was marked with dolmens and monuments. You can still see the ancient heritage that pre-dates Christianity in the stone circles, megalithic tombs, dolmens and chambered graves. Step forward to the Middle Ages to see castles and tower houses, built between 1200 and 1600, which consolidated Anglo-Norman political power in the region.

The Mourne Mountains and Ring of Gullion region is dotted with churches and grand estates, as well as holy sites and historic buildings. Many attractions are totally unique, and if you are interested in Christian and pre-Christian heritage you have a huge choice – a taster of a few hours or a pilgrimage of many days.

Myths & legends

Go tell it on the mountain

In an island of legendary storytellers, it's no surprise that the Mourne Mountains and Ring of Gullion region boast tales and myths to rival any bard. Find out more by chatting to friendly locals.

Cloughmore Stone

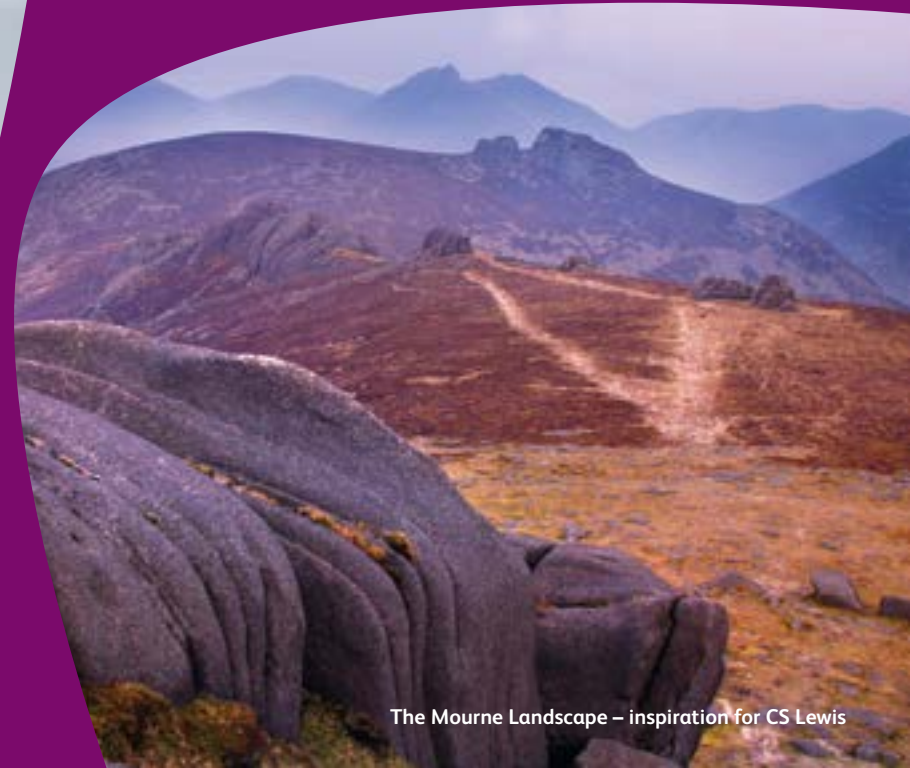

This granite boulder sits on the slopes of Slieve Martin, above the town of Rostrevor. Legend has it that Fionn Mac Cumhaill threw it from the opposite side of Carlingford Lough at a rival but in reality, it was deposited during the last glaciation over 10,000 years ago and may have come from Scotland.

Cloughmore Stone

Chronicles of Narnia

CS Lewis, author of 'The Chronicles of Narnia' that began with 'The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe', was inspired by the Mourne landscape. He wrote of the scenery here "it made me feel that at any moment a giant might raise its head over the next ridge." Lewis holidayed in the Mourne, near the village of Rostrevor. He loved the Celtic myths told to him in childhood, also inspiration for his Narnia stories.

The Mourne Landscape – inspiration for CS Lewis

Deirdre of the Sorrows

Conchobar mac Nessa King of Ulster decided that Deirdre, the most beautiful woman in Ireland, would become his wife when she became of age. He took her from her family and held her in seclusion on the slopes of Slieve Gullion. However, Deirdre fell in love with a young warrior, Naoise, and they fled.

Conchobar tricked Deirdre into marrying him after having Naoise killed. Frustrated by Deirdre's hatred toward him, Conchobar offered Deirdre to the man who had murdered Naoise. Deirdre, it's said, died of grief.

It is told that from Deirdre's and Naoise's graves grew two trees and they became so intertwined that nothing could ever part them again.

Did you know?

Great granite

Although Mourne granite is now protected, one of the last large pieces to be quarried in the area now stands in Kilkeel, as a monument to fishermen who lost their lives at sea. The local company that made the monument also made the Diana Memorial Fountain in Hyde Park, London.

Family fun Get busy

Take the family to the unspoilt beaches, enchanting gardens, adventure centres and activities in the great outdoors. Or if the weather doesn't oblige, try the many indoor play areas and leisure centres.

There is fun for all the family in the outdoor activity listings that follow. Plenty of this fun is free – take the buckets and spades to an award-winning beach and try a spot of rock pooling. Then you can stroll, bike or scoot along the promenade with an ice-cream, or take a walk at a country park. Many of the traditional seaside towns in the Mourne have a variety of outdoor and indoor play areas and amusement centres. Older children will enjoy choosing from the range of adventure activities on offer at the local outdoor centres. All the family will enjoy a trip to the cinema, or a craft activity or workshop in one of the area's arts centres.

The Mourne Mountain and Ring of Gullion outdoor playground is open for all the family – kids, parents and grandparents – with plenty of activities that everyone can enjoy together. The area's visitor attractions run frequent family events – check online at www.visitmournemountains.co.uk

Cycling

Get pedalling

You could just jump on your bike and pedal, but why not take advantage of some stunning cycle routes already plotted for you? Your ideal companion for a day in the saddle is the Cycle Routes guide available for download at www.visitmournemountains.co.uk or call into a local Visitor Information Centre and pick up a FREE route guide.

Cycle Route Guide

You can use your cycle guide to follow any one of nine fabulous routes through the region. If you haven't cycled in the area before, the guide also gives you some top tips on essential equipment and safety. The routes vary in difficulty from easy to strenuous, and there is a map for each, alongside detailed directions.

Easy routes

Poets' Trail – eight miles on country roads with a few hills, taking you through the stunning Ring of Gullion and following the legacy of the poets of South Armagh.

Cranfield/Greencastle – 12 miles of mainly flat cycling that takes in nature reserves and a historic house, as well as Cranfield beach, Greencastle, Carlingford Bay, the Giant's Grave and Burial Banks.

Moderate routes

Head Road Route – 16 miles of moderate cycling with some hills, which runs beneath the High Mourne, with views across stonewalled fields to the Irish Sea.

Newry Canal Towpath – 20 miles of moderate cycling from Newry Town Hall along the towpath, past historic landmarks and specially commissioned modern art.

Strenuous routes

Rostrevor – 17 miles with some steep sections, starting and finishing at Rostrevor, and visiting Kilbroney, Hilltown, Rocky River and Carlingford Lough.

Knockchree – 18 miles with steep climbs through fabulous countryside with great views of the Mourne, starting at Cranfield Beach.

Legananny – 20 miles with some steep sections, with mountain views, dolmens and farmland from Finnis to Castletwellan, taking in Slieve Croob on the way.

Slieve Croob – 25 miles of medium gradients with some steep climbs, starting in Castletwellan, via Slieve Croob and along the coast and hills.

Newcastle to Lough Island Reavy – 25 miles long cycle with steep climbs, through Tollymore forest, villages and a man-made lough.

Did you know? Kodak Corner

Check out one of the most breathtaking views in the region along the Rostrevor Mountain Bike Trail, and make sure you bring your camera!

Wild at heart

Several new mountain bike trails at Kilbroney, near Rostrevor, and Castlewellan, will really get your heart pumping. Take some friends with a sense of adventure and get pedalling.

After a day in the saddle, don't miss the chance to swap tales of your bravado in the evening beside a roaring fire in one of area's welcoming pubs or restaurants.

The 'Mourne Foods Cycle Trail' has been devised by the Enniskeen Country House Hotel (just outside Newcastle, County Down), in association with local food producers to showcase the wonderful artisan food in the region. With the Mourne Mountains as its backdrop, the trail pairs up gentle cycling, stunning scenery and simply delicious food! Stop off with local producers, hear their stories, get the chance to buy directly from the farmer, and then store your provisions in the specially provided bike panniers. The trail offers visitors a self-guided tour by bicycle, with gentle cycling either downhill or on flat ground – electric bikes are available too, so there are definitely no excuses! A shuttle bus takes you up to the start point at Spelga Dam in the heart of the Mourne Mountains and from there it is all downhill through the beautiful Shimna Valley and Tollymore Forest Park, where you'll pass by the 'Kings Grave' and 'Altavaddy Bridge' – the filming location of the 'Direwolf Pups' in the Game of Thrones TV series – don't forget your camera!

Price: £30 per person – includes bicycle hire, bike pannier storage compartment, trail pack and FREE shuttle bus up to Spelga Dam. Advance booking is required.

When you add not just one but two purpose-built downhill trails to the mix, there's no denying it... Rostrevor is a mountain bikers' heaven!

Saddle Up

Equestrian activities

Many people insist that the view is better on horseback. Whether you are a total novice or an experienced rider, try to elevate yourself to see the Mourne Mountains and Ring of Gullion as nature intended.

More horsepower

You can ride along quiet country roads, or get the wind in your hair on beaches or along forest trails. It's not so much the Wild West, more the wild east of Ireland. Horseriding is the ideal way to explore more remote areas of the Mournes and Ring of Gullion, and gives you a new perspective on the landscape. It gets you closer to nature, and of course you can cover more ground than on your own two feet. Even a novice rider can feel a real sense of adventure on horseback. The area's various equestrian centres cater for all age groups and levels of experience, starting with total beginners. You will find everything from long hacks to short treks. It's truly memorable horse riding, along coastline and through countryside.

Get Hooked Fishing

You are only a few casts away from fresh catch in the Mourne and Ring of Gullion. The water is never far from view, and it flows in every possible way. The fishing waters are perfect for a great range of game, coarse and sea angling. Depending on your area of interest, you will be able to find a waterway to suit.

The area has loughs, lakes, rivers, canals and, of course, the Irish Sea. For the fishing enthusiast, that means there is a huge choice of settings, all in spectacular and reliably unspoilt locations. You could choose a relaxing day at one of many tranquil lakes and rivers, bagging trout or salmon. Or you could test your skills with sea angling, either from shore or by boat. An offshore trip could bag you ray, turbot, dogfish, mullet, flounder, mackerel, pollack, coalfish or tope.

If you're a serious angler, you might want to work your way round several of the options on offer. You could combine a fishing trip with some serious (or lighthearted) walking. Remember – no day's fishing is complete without a round-up in the evening beside a roaring fire.

Before you fish

Find out what type of rod licence or permit you need for the location. Many permits are easily available locally for visitors. The contacts you need are in the listings that follow.

Golf

Get in the swing

Golf has been a major fixture in Northern Irish life for over 100 years. Clubs here support the game at all levels, and there are plenty of quality courses in the Mourne and Ring of Gullion including the world renowned Royal County Down, Newcastle. Many have amazing views, and clubs generally have fine facilities, including practice areas, bars, restaurants, pro shops and equipment.

Many courses have been landscaped within beautiful country estates, and use the natural contours of the land to stunning effect. Of course, you don't have to play on a course that is famous all over the world to have a great round of golf. Many local clubs warmly welcome visitors.

Make the links

For a small country, Ireland has a large proportion of the world's links courses, and one of the finest of them all is in the Mourne. Royal County Down is one of the world's most stunning links courses, regularly featuring in the top golf spots. The course runs along Dundrum Bay, alongside the nature reserve, with spectacular views of the Mourne Mountains. It's a challenging course with amazing views and interesting features. Both the championship and second course welcome visitors (see listings).

The 19th hole

Round your game off properly by experiencing some of the local hospitality, either in the clubhouse or a local restaurant or pub. Talk your game up as you enjoy some local food!

Health & leisure

Soak it up

Whether you are keen on an active sporting experience or nothing more strenuous than a facial, the Mourne Mountains and Ring of Gullion has a leisure activity to suit. You can make it as active as you like, or focus totally on the benefits to your wellbeing. The local landscape provides the perfect setting for some relaxation.

Kilbroney Park

Many woodlands and parks can easily serve as your local outdoor gym. Often totally free, some now have fitness equipment, and there are way-marked trails to follow. Get out there and fill your lungs with fresh mountain or sea air.

The bigger towns in the region have public leisure facilities, offering classes and activities like swimming and dance that are popular with families. There is a great range of indoor facilities if you fancy a change from the outdoors.

On the water

One of the main features associated with Ireland is water. You can explore the waters of the Mourne and Ring of Gullion in many different ways, including canoeing, jet-skiing or sailing. Discover the coastline by boat in organised leisure cruises – the speed you take things is up to you.

The area has a great network of canoe trails and organised kayaking trips. Activity providers often hire out equipment and provide leaders for you to follow on a guided trail. As well as the inland opportunities, some centres offer sea kayaking or sessions on white water.

www.canoeni.com is an informative website for anyone wanting to try canoeing in the area. You will find maps and practical information, as well as planning guides for the South East Coast Canoe Trail.

For the adrenaline junkie, try coasteering, bouldering, diving, jetskiing, kitesurfing, waterskiing or windsurfing. Many watersports centres offer taster sessions in dinghy sailing. The area has a good choice of boat trips, including sea safaris or laid-back, scenic, leisure cruises.

If you are visiting the area by boat, check the listings that follow to see where you can dock and the facilities on offer.

Did you know? Maggie's Leap

Named after a local girl, Maggie Murphy, who jumped the gap in the land to escape unwanted admirers. Maggie, and the eggs she was carrying, both survived!

Definitive guide to canoeing and kayaking in County Down and Northern Ireland. Information on access to canoe trails, canoe or kayak rental, canoe and kayaking courses or canoeing holidays.

Your place at the table

Taking a break from preparing meals is one of the real treats of visiting new places. Why not break a walk with a pub lunch or coffee stop? Or after a busy day in the great outdoors, pull up a chair at a local restaurant and enjoy some local produce by a roaring fire. Whatever you do, don't go home without trying the local fish, a speciality of the area.

Mourne Seafood Restaurant

Love local

One thing you can guarantee is that any good eaterie features plenty of fresh, local produce. Chefs are very proud of the local delights, and make a point of creating dishes that make the most of them. The big three in Northern Ireland are lamb, beef and potatoes, but the country also has world-class dairy, pork and chicken, as well as local vegetables. In the Mourne and Ring of Gullion, the fish and seafood is first class, and as fresh as it comes.

Local products are served up in traditional ways, or with a global twist. For a taste of authenticity, look out for traditional bakery and bread products, Irish stew, beef in Guinness, champ and the well-known Ulster Fry of course!

Fine diners will love the local venison and pheasant, oysters and mussels from Dundrum Bay, free range duck and pedigree pig. Local, independent producers offer free-range eggs, butter, honey, ice-cream, rhubarb, orchard fruits like plum and the famous Armagh apples.

Take your pick from hotel restaurants, brasseries, cafés and pubs. If you prefer to roll your sleeves up and get your apron on, try the Mourne Seafood Cookery School in Kilkeel. Here you can learn to cook fish and other foods like the experts.

Mourne Seafood Cookery School

Fast food

Try the Mourne Foods Cycle Trail, which links local artisan food producers on a memorable cycle route starting from Spelga Dam. Sample as you go, then load up your panniers with tasty local produce direct from the producers.

Shopping

Treat yourself

You'll find great choice for some retail therapy, from weekly markets to a huge outlet centre. Local towns offer traditionally produced crafts, while many shopping centres and high streets have multinational stores.

Made in the Mourne Mountains

High quality, handcrafted products made locally include fine art, jewellery, textiles, homeware and ceramics, as well as products made from Irish Linen. Many makers open their studios to visitors, or you could try local craft outlets, including the shop at the F E McWilliam Gallery or several of the Visitor Information Centres.

available in the larger towns

Outlet shopping

The OUTLET at Banbridge is Ireland's largest dedicated outlet centre, with great international brands at discount prices. There are 50-plus stores and 1,500 parking spaces, so it's good destination shopping. You can refuel at one of the cafes, and keep the kids occupied at W5 Lite for free (an offshoot of W5, the award winning science and discovery centre in Belfast).

www.the-outlet.co.uk

W5 LITE at The OUTLET

W5 LITE is a FREE, fun taster experience of Belfast's award winning children's interactive destination opened in partnership with W5 at The Odyssey, Belfast.

W5 LITE offers families visiting The OUTLET the opportunity to enjoy some of W5's great, hands-on exhibits; such as Flying Fish, One in a Million and a few which develop your creativity and skills in animation.

Primary and Post-primary school group visits are welcome and visitor servicing information is also located in the unit, comprises a team of Advisors who provide customers with help and guidance in order to ensure a pleasant visit to The OUTLET.

Opening Hours
Mon–Wed 10am–6pm
Thurs–Fri 10am–9pm
Saturday 9am–6pm
Sunday 1pm–6pm
(Closed Christmas Day and Easter Sunday)

Big names

If you are looking for big high street names, try one of Newry's shopping centres – Buttercrane or The Quays. Newry has a good mix of independent boutiques and high street names. Hill Street and Monaghan Street are great areas for independent fashion and jewellery shops. There are plenty of local independent boutiques to discover in Ballynahinch, Banbridge, Crossmaglen, Kilkeel and Newcastle. These local towns have ample car parking for stress-free shopping.

Art in the Mourne Mountains

There are plenty of local venues for the performing arts, with space for workshops and exhibitions. Newry and Warrenpoint Town Halls both have a large theatre, the Sean Hollywood Arts Centre in Newry has a full programme of listings and you can keep the family occupied in craft spaces like Jumping Clay or pottery painting.

The Mourne Mountains has a public art trail consisting of 12 pieces at significant sites – Clough, Dundrum, Newcastle, Tollymore, Silent Valley and Rathfriland, among others. This trail aims to lead visitors around the area, learning about history and heritage on the way.

B/E Aerospace Festival of Flight

The B/E Aerospace Festival of Flight takes place in Newcastle in the second week of August. There are many free events for all the family, including a programme of air displays with amazing jet aircraft, an Aviation Village in Donard Park, exhibitions, family workshops, vintage vehicles and music.

Festival of Flight

Fiddler's Green

Fiddler's Green International Festival in Rostrevor runs over a week every summer. It has an amazing family programme of concerts and lots of free music outdoors – folk, blues, country and jazz – plus speakers, exhibitions, children's entertainment and cultural events.

Camlough Lake Water Festival

County Armagh's very own water sports festival takes place annually in August including swimming, water polo, triathlon, Irish long distance water swimming events and water skiing.

Camlough Lake

Banbridge Arts Fest

Banbridge Arts Fest takes place in the autumn. It is full of arts and cultural events in a programme lasting over a week, including writers, pop-ups featuring local artists, kids' activities, a craft fair, street performance and music. This is all in a town that also boasts the F E McWilliam Gallery, Brontë Centre and several public art spaces.
